Hidden in the lush woodland of the Glynn Valley, on the fringes of Bodmin Moor and midway between Bodmin and Liskeard, Nuthatch Lodge offers comfort and tranquillity for a couple seeking a reprieve from the hustle and bustle of everyday life for their holiday.

With stunning views across the valley from the private decking and garden, you may be fortunate enough to spot the wild deer roaming along the horizon. The buzzards soar above, while the nuthatches, finches and woodpeckers feast nearby. A walk through the local broad leaf and pine woodlands or up on Bodmin Moor itself offer further opportunities to capture a glimpse of the abundant local wildlife.

Nuthatch is a spacious timber lodge, built in 2004 to residential specifications. The open plan style has full central heating, so it is suitable for a holiday or break in any season. It has a fully equipped kitchen, comfortable sitting room, one double en-suite bedroom and private patio decking with garden furniture and barbeque facilities.
